

LIVING IN PROCESS®
INTENSIVES OFFER
OPPORTUNITIES TO:

- ◆ Learn about spirituality and Living in Process® as an alternative to participating in the addictive system and addictive relationships.
- ◆ Live in Process. In this work, we practice and receive support in honoring our internal process and nurturing transformation and recovery for ourselves, others and the world.
- ◆ Share with and learn from others as we address our addictive behaviors using the Living in Process® and 12-Step models.
- ◆ Allow past and present feelings to come up in a safe and supportive environment.
- ◆ Participate in a respectful, honest and open environment where work on personal and relationship issues proceeds at your own pace.
- ◆ Experience healing and the possibility of a paradigm shift in the way we experience and lead our lives.

LIVING IN PROCESS® INTENSIVE DESCRIPTION

The purpose of the Intensive is to provide an experience in the Living in Process® System and community while confronting the addictive process.

The work is not therapy, nor is it based on the scientific model out of which therapy comes. It is an alternative. The Intensives are a door into a new paradigm of living.

Living in Process® work was developed by Anne Wilson Schaef, Ph.D. Dr. Schaef has been teaching this work throughout the world for many decades and has been teaching this paradigm to people in the Living in Process® Training Group since 1981. She has retired from doing the introductory intensives and focusing her time on the Training Group and her writing. The long-time members of the Living in Process® Training will be facilitating this intensive in Argyle.

For more information about the Living in Process® work, we encourage you to read Anne's books, including Beyond Therapy, Beyond Science and Living in Process. These books are available through Wilson Schaef Associates 406-225-9171 - www.livinginprocess.com or Amazon.com.
